MILLIONAIRE HOUSEHOLDS QUESTIONED FOR IDENTITY.

In Water Only Two Days and No One of Description Has Been Reported Missing.

The discovery of the body of a very pretty young girl in the Hudson River at a point off the estate of Helen Gould, between Irvington and Tarrytown, to-day, has given the authorities of Westchester County a mystery to unravel. Coroner lies of Yonkers and Chief of Police William J. Bownes of Tarrytown have charge of the investigation, which had not progressed to any extent in the way of ascertaining the identity of the girl late this afternoon.

Policemen and others have been sent to make inquiries at the homes of Miss Gould, John D. Archbold, Russell Hopkins and other wealthy New Yorkers who have homes along the Hudson in the vicinity of Tarrytown. The girl's body has been viewed by persons who know about everybody residing in Tarrytown, Dobbs Ferry and Irvington, and they say she does not resemble any one of their acquaintance.

There is a chance that the girl may body was found, as the medical mes than two days.
